

CLEAN-UP WEEK WILL BEGIN IN CITY ON MAY 9

Date for City Beautification
Drive Fixed by Proclamation of Mayor

Marion will observe the annual "Clean-up, Paint-up and Plant-up Week" next week it was announced yesterday by Mayor Earl Hazen and Service Director O. A. Benedict. The following proclamation has been issued by Mayor Hazen setting aside next week as the time for the annual clean-up.

To the Citizens of Marion:
"I, Earl Hazen, Mayor of the City of Marion, do hereby set aside the week of May 9, 1927, as 'Clean-up, Paint-up and Plant-up week'. Every citizen should show his personal pride by cleaning up his house and property so as to avoid fire risk and to abolish fly and mosquito breeding places, by helping clean up vacant lots by making flower and vegetable gardens, planting grass seed, shrubs and trees, all of which tend to increase the healthfulness of the citizens of the city of Marion, as well as increasing the beauty of our city's surroundings."

Signed,
EARL HAZEN, Mayor.
Observed Later

Clean-up week is being observed later this year than usual it was explained by city officials today, with the thought that former flies will be out and gardens cleared of last year's rubbish thereby making the collection more lasting in its effect.

Those who are in the city garbage service will have their cans, ashes and rubbish taken away without extra charge while those not in the service will be required to pay a small charge it was explained by Service Director Benedict today. It will be necessary for those not in the service to have the receptacles containing ashes or rubbish placed along the curb in front of their homes, this feature is being emphasized by the service director.

Any who do not wish to have the city haul their ashes or rubbish can secure the services of any licensed hauler, the city service is not compulsory the service director pointed out. No extra equipment is being planned by the service director, for the collection.

NOTED COWGIRLS, CHAMPIONS OF WEST, WITH WALTER L. MAIN CIRCUS THIS YEAR

ONE of the genuine cowgirls offered by the Walter L. Main Circus this year in the performance of the noted cow girls, champions of the west, who joined the historical scene from the Cheyenne Frontier Exhibition. When the big show comes to Marion on Friday a real wild west show will be staged among the numbers.

When the parents of the present generation were boys and girls there lived on the western plains a great body of hardy heroes who rode on guardians over the large herds of cattle which roamed the trackless plains. There were heroes, too, who when the men folk fell beneath the arrows of the raiding Indians, assumed the responsibility of guarding their homes and their cattle an heroic exploits have made the history of the West.

Few of the original pioneers have survived. But those who have, have the traditions of the Far West with an undiminished devotion and have reenacted their offerings in the arena of the pioneer days. Many of the pioneers are to be found with the Walter L. Main Circus and also many of the younger generation who from the knees of their fathers have been taught the traditional heritage of the Old West. Each year the plantation exhibits of the circus, with a display of Alberta cowboys, Canada, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Utah, Wash. and other places. It is the latest trick and fancy riding stunts performed and the winners are awarded prizes. Walter L. Main has made it a practice for years to engage the champions at the various rodeos and stunts. In this way he has built up a staff of cowboys and cowgirls who are engaged in daredevil stunts, show riding and roping talent.

However the wild west numbers by means constitute the only attraction of the circus program this season. There are 40 shows, 30 animals, 40 acrobats and 50 acrobats with the circus this year. First last night's performance for performances and first prize are given twice a night by Prof. J. H. Griffin and his Midway Band of musicians. The Marion Daily News reports at 11 a. m. Doors to the big performance open at 1 and 7 p. m. and the performances start promptly at 2 and 8 p. m.

The Walter L. Main Circus is now touring more than 100 persons and persons with it. For a complete program of the circus in which to expect a good show. The "big top" will comfortably seat 5,000 persons. Two main tents of 100 ft. x 100 ft. are to be found with the circus this year, also.

DR. N. SIFRITT MAY GET CALL FOR FLOOD WORK

County Health Commissioner's Offer To Help Accepted by State Board

Dr. N. Sifritt, Marion county health commissioner, may be called for service in the Mississippi flood district.

Recently Governor Donahoe offered the services of the state health department to the stricken district and immediately afterward all county health commissioners in Ohio volunteered to go into the flood area if called upon. Yesterday Dr. Sifritt received a letter from Dr. J. E. Mosser, state director of health, informing him that he had been accepted and that he would be placed subject to call.

Although there is no likelihood of Sifritt being summoned soon, his services may be needed later, the letter stated.

The state department of health has four representatives working in the flood district.

SENIOR HONOR STUDENTS SELECTED BY TEACHERS

Charlotte Kramer Named President of Group of Harding
High Pupils

An announcement was made today of the selection of Harding High School seniors who have obtained sufficient standing during their work as students of the school to permit them to become members of the National Honor Society.

A committee of 11 teachers nominated the students, whose names were then approved and reported by each teacher of the school. From this list the committee chose the number permitted membership by the constitution.

The list includes Charlotte Kramer, who at the first meeting of the society yesterday noon was elected president, Virginia Wilson, vice president, and Robert Adams, secretary and the following members: Elizabeth Carl, Ronald Green, Madeline Outarrell, Jean Bowman, Leah Dean, Clara Gillan, Ruth Lewis, Henderson, Phyllis Hunk, Frances Hunk, Martha Libbey, Laura Morrison, Mary Alice Reed, Richard Patterson, Gloria Ream, Marvin Rife, Joe Robert, Bernice Robinson, Lila Ralston, Raymond Romine, Rudolph and Kate Lacey, Vera Mae Harpe, Helen McLean, Mary K. Antonsen, and Melba Marshall.

It is one of the proudest of a teacher and the office of treasurer and Miss L. E. Foreman, Harding High School, was elected to this charge.

Membership in the society rests first on scholarship and also on leadership, character and service. The N. Y. Adv.

Hill after Hill and Never a Knock!

Better 7 Ways

- 1 It is non-detonating
- 2 It gives instant starting
- 3 It gives lightning acceleration
- 4 It gives giant power—smoothly
- 5 It gives more miles per gallon
- 6 It burns cleanly—the foe of carbon
- 7 It is safe for you and your motor

Because better seven ways
DETNOX is best always.

SOME CARS knock at the least provocation, even on the level, while others knock only when they are laboring to get up a hill. Every knock, however, is motor-racking as well as nerve-racking! Every knock is a warning of wasted power—power that not only fails to drive your car, but actually retards its progress.

DETNOX gasoline is non-detonating. It will not knock, even on the longest hills or in the hottest weather. Every ounce of the smooth, boundless power in DETNOX therefore, is free to do useful work in driving your car.

Try a tankful of DETNOX. You will get a new thrill from its surge of silent power. You will enjoy the quiet ease with which it whisks you up hill after hill—with never a knock!

NATION'S ECONOMIC CONFERENCE OPENED

Seats Reserved for Russian Delegates Empty at First Session

Genoa, May 4.—With the warning that the "debility of economic man" could not be dispelled by "the wave of a magic wand," George de Theunis, former premier of Belgium, today opened the League of Nations Economic Conference here, with 14 nations represented.

"While we shall certainly not claim to dissolve by a wave of the magic wand the difficulties of offering mankind, we are laying the first stone of a structure which shall serve the general interest," said M. de Theunis, who acted as presiding officer.

"This conference will serve the cause of peace," the chairman continued. "Forty-six nations were represented among the delegates, who filled the lecture at the Salle de la Reformation, the usual meeting place of the League of Nations. The seats for the Russian delegation were empty, as they will not arrive until later this afternoon, when they will be given a heavy guard of Swiss police."

Approximately 200 delegates and 300 experts are expected to attend the conference, but the majority of these are not authorized to speak as official spokesmen of their governments.

political trends in the various nations. That old conservative, stand English form of government looked on its very foundations a little over a year ago and right now they are about to test the strength of that government a second time. It seems to be a peculiarity of human nature that the only way the mob spirit can be guided is to surrender all control into the hands of the despot.

Greatest Experiment

"It remained for the United States to perform the great experiment in government and the accomplishments of that experiment date to date have startled the world—I might even say startled us. That we are gradually getting away from the basic principles under which we made such rapid progress goes without saying. Those of us who are public life see at our very hand. There seems to be a breaking up of responsible manhood and a supplanting of that regime by group control. If carried to a conclusion it means coalition government in America."

"I believe there is no more important or useful work the Federation of Women's Clubs of Ohio could do than to become the missionaries and the teachers among the citizenry of Ohio in showing that patriotic spirit of service which makes a citizen want to serve his country. The average individual thinks his or her country is a distant thing of war, but I believe that every citizen's service can be rendered in peace time as during war. Sometimes I feel that we need that kind of patriotic service today more than in any other period of our history. The historian refers to the Civil War period in America history, but I am not so certain that the historian ten years from today will classify the period we are living through as most critical."

Constant Agitation

"There is a public mind today a constant agitation for more laws to regulate control and prohibit the activities of the individual. While the passage of every such law has opportunity for the individual to work out, the individual is constantly being told that he must conform to the law. What we need today is not more laws, but greater respect for the law. We need a new kind of patriotism, a new kind of citizenship, a new kind of service to the community. I believe that the individual is the key to the solution of our problems. We need a new kind of citizenship, a new kind of service to the community. I believe that the individual is the key to the solution of our problems."

NEW SHOVEL HEAD SAYS NO CHANGES PLANNED

W. L. Ackerson, New York City, Comes to Marion To Study Industry

That no changes in the personnel of the old company are being considered at the present time was the substance of an interview given by W. L. Ackerson, newly elected president of the Marion Shovel Head Co. yesterday.

Mr. Ackerson, who is at present at the Marion Hotel, said that he had come here to study the shovel head industry and was not prepared at this time to make any statements. No change will be made at the plant at the present time, he said, as there are no plans of changing the plant with any other being made. Mr. Ackerson is a resident of New York City.

FOREST FIRES MAKE 100 HOMELESS; TOWN LOST

Blazes Reported Under Control in New Jersey; Fear Shift in Wind

Mary Landrum, N. J., May 4.—One hundred persons are homeless, an entire town is in ruins and an area of 25 square miles in South Jersey is in a devastated condition today, the toll of two giant forest fires in Atlantic County.

The blazes were reported under control early today but a shift in the wind may mean that the work of the thousand volunteers fighting the fire has been for naught.

The town of Riegels, with its two dozen houses, was virtually wiped out last night as the flames from the two fires, which had been burning for more than 12 hours, reached the town.

COMPOSER DIES

Author of "Mother Machree" Succumbs Following Theater Performance

Santa Ana, Cal., May 4.—Ernest R. Ball, noted composer and well known to vaudeville audiences, was dead here today.

The composer, according to the manager of the theater at which he appeared here, complained of being ill yesterday. After last night's performance, he suddenly collapsed in his dressing room and died before his wife, a member of his troupe, could be summoned.

Ball was the composer of such popular songs as "Mother Machree," "Wagon the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," "Irish Eyes Are Smiling," and many others. He was about 50 years old.

The composer's body will be sent to Cleveland, his home, for burial.

BITTERNESS EVIDENT AS STRIKE BILL IS REREAD

London, May 4.—Bitterness was again evident in the house of commons this afternoon as the second reading of the government's bill to prohibit unauthorized strikes approached.

John Beckett, labor M. P. for Gateshead, was suspended for five days after declaring Premier Baldwin to be a "liar." Beckett was given an opportunity to withdraw his remark but refused to.

CATHOLIC WOMEN HOLD TWO-DAY CONFERENCE

Cleveland, May 4.—International Day was to be observed Thursday by the Cleveland Diocesan Council of the National Council of Catholic Women, opening a two-day conference here today.

GREENVILLE WOMAN CITES GREATNESS OF WORK TO FEDERATION CONVENTION

"The greatest thing the Federation of Women's Clubs can do is to prepare women to take their place in the world," declared Mrs. J. L. Selby, Greenville, chairman of the committee on scholarship fund, at her address this afternoon on "The American College League Scholarship Fund" at the convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs at the First Presbyterian Church.

In addressing our own fund we are keeping pace with the forward movement in education. We are determined that our girls shall have an education that is with while, an education that will transcend from one generation to the other. We know that marks the steps of progress," she stated.

Although the women's club movement seems to be limited by the limits of the club, it is in fact a part of the evolution of the race, a twentieth century manifestation of the destiny of women as the beneficent woman. The club movement has been an awakening to the full glory and meaning of life. The lesson of the hour is to help those who need it, in the shape of which they need it, and kindness in all and everything that exists on the face of the earth. If we move this way, the spirit of the enlightenment of the world will be the result.

The real leaders of the club movement in the beginning were Mrs. Jennie Jones, Croly, Julia Ward Howe, and Charlotte Willoughby. These women saw the vision of what service means, service through an organization brought and held together by the same ideals. It is striving to bring beauty and happiness and understanding through the common language of art and music and literature. It is trying to safeguard women at their daily tasks and to give little children their right to a healthy and happy childhood. It is leading every child toward stamper and pen, toward the standard of the moral standard in community. It is endeavoring to meet the needs of every man, woman and child in education of the right kind.

The subject in question was almost the first sign of social service education by the general federation. As the years passed it was more and more evident that interest in this line of work was deepening.

You club women have wrought a great work. You have created a bond, raising station existing about $10,000. This girls are the play stations from which our country are broadened through our own country. The chairman of divisions and the chairman of departments of the federation are assisted by our girls in relating messages. Some girls carry the message of art, some of music, some of education, some of public health. This not only the federation is assisted by our club women's efforts but the world is made better.

TWO CENT GASOLINE PRICE CUT ANNOUNCED

A reduction of two cents a gallon on the price of gasoline by the Public Oil Service Corporation was placed in effect today at its local filling station, Marion and Harding sts. E. A. Schaefer, the manager, announced. This takes a price of 18 cents for the company's best grade of gas. Mr. Schaefer stated. Reductions at other stations in the city were announced several days ago. The price of gasoline here varies at the different stations from 20 cents to 18 cents.

FLOOD RELIEF BENEFIT DANCE IS ARRANGED

Crystal Lake Park Management Cooperating with Red Cross Chapter

A contribution of substantial proportions to Marion County's share of the Mississippi flood relief fund is expected to result from a benefit dance to be given at Crystal Lake Park pavilion, Thursday night, the entire proceeds from which will be applied to that fund.

Tickets for the dance, which was arranged in response to an offer to be held at the Crystal Lake Park Co., are now being sold and early collections are that several thousand will be purchased by local citizens. Serving of a large number of boys have been obtained for distribution of the tickets and the sale is being conducted in all parts of the city.

The Crystal Lake Park Co. is donating its pavilion and also services of the orchestra for the benefit, so that outside of a few minor expense items, every dollar taken in will go to the relief fund.

The music will be furnished by Rick and Ramblers, formerly known as Zees and Ramblers, a well-known orchestra, now filling a two weeks engagement at the park.

The program for Thursday night will include numerous novelty features which will provide entertainment for all who attend, whether they participate in the dancing or not, the park management stated. The orchestra, one of the best known organizations of its kind, consists of 10 musicians, all two-piece ensembles in their line.

Plans for the dance were announced after approval had been obtained from the local Red Cross chapter, which is in charge of the flood fund campaign.

Daily Proverb—"As it is the part of justice never to do violence, so it is the part of modesty never to commit offense."

The fire loss in the United States last year was in excess of $500,000,000, which should not be overlooked when we start figuring on the causes leading to the high cost of living.

We feel that grave injustice has been done Florida. An aerial mapping shows that there is natural land there fit for cultivation even in parts of the Everglades.

Suspicion is based on such trivial foundation to this day and are that it would be no more than fair to mankind were Mrs. Currie Chapman Catt to admit that there were hip pockets in man's pants when he stole 'em from the women folks.

We have read about many varieties of diplomacy, but the more we study the accomplishments of Mr. Mussolini, the more we lean to the view that, for getting results, his castor oil brand is in a class by itself.

"There is nothing like work," says Mrs. David Lloyd George. "Make yourself useful and you will have a happy life." Ah! Discovered at last. Now we know the font of cheer of us hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs.

Secretary Herbert Hoover should be ashamed of himself for urging that Americans refrain from loaning Europe money to be devoted to armaments. If Europe can not build up and maintain her mighty armaments, how does he imagine she is ever going to be able to maintain her high idealism?

The London Sunday Times says Secretary Mellon lacks the international spirit. We knew there must be something about that man in addition to his wonderful ability as a financier to make his appeal to us so strong.

It must not be taken that Sir Arthur Balfour's view, "If we want international trade we can't get it by glaring at each other over hedges," is applicable to Great Britain alone. There are other peoples who might well give it consideration.

We heartily agree with the view of the London editor, who holds that many of the differences between the nations of the earth could be dissipated by resort to hearty co-operation, but that doesn't convince us that this country should show all the sympathy and all the cooperation.

Europe Burns Up Our Money.

Speeches were made by three men of international prominence, Monday, each of which bore upon and fitted into the other two so amazingly that it might have been assumed, had it not been that there was so marked a variance between the purpose of one of them and the purpose of the other two, that they were uttered coincidentally by design.

In one of them, Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, addressing the opening session of the third Pan-American commercial conference assembled in Washington, asserted that the refusal of nations to permit either public or private loans to be made to other countries except for production purposes would go far toward the prevention of war.

"No nation," said Secretary Hoover, "should itself, or should permit its citizens to borrow money from foreign countries, and no nation should allow its citizens to lend money to foreign countries unless this money is to be devoted to reproductive enterprise."

"Out of the wealth and the higher standards of living created from enterprise itself must come the ability to repay the capital, together with the net gain, to the borrowing country. Any other course of action creates obligations impossible of repayment, except by a direct subtraction from the standards of living of the borrowing country and the impoverishment of their people."

"If nations would refuse to allow the lending of money for the balancing of budgets for purposes of military equipment or war purposes, a great number of blessings would follow to the entire world."

"There could be no question as to the ability to repay; with this increasing security, capital would become steadily cheaper, the dangers to national and individual independence in attempts of the lender to collect his defaulted debts would be avoided; there would be definite increase in the standard of living and the comfort and prosperity of the borrower. There could be no greater step taken in the prevention of war itself."

The second address to which we refer was that of Thomas W. Lamont, of the New York banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Company, made in Washington before the American section of the International chamber of commerce, cautioning against and counseling against rash or excessive lending by American investors, particularly to European borrowers.

Figures made public during the day by the department of commerce show that foreign loans placed in the United States during April broke all records.

American underwriters publicly offered during the month foreign capital securities with a total par value of $209,000,000, the greatest monthly total in the history of foreign financing in this country. The total in April, 1926, was $141,000,000.

"From the point of view of the American investor, it is obviously necessary to scan the situation with increasing circumspection and avoid rash or excessive lending," said Mr. Lamont. "I have in mind the reports that I have recently heard of American bankers and firms competing for the purpose of obtaining loans in various foreign money markets overseas."

"Naturally, it is a tempting thing for certain of the European governments to find American bankers sitting on their doorsteps offering them money. That sort of competition tends to insecurity and unsoundness."

"The American investor is intelligent and can be relied upon to discriminate. Yet, in the first instance, such discrimination surely is the province of the banker who buys the goods rather than the investor to whom he sells them. I may be accused of special pleading in uttering this warning. Yet a warning needs to be given against indiscriminate lending and indiscriminate borrowing."

Thus we have the warning of Mr. Hoover, the declaration of Mr. Lamont that the thing against which the warning is uttered is being done, and the department of commerce figures to show that it is being done more recklessly than ever before in our history save during the progress of the World War.

Now what is being done with these immense sums of money? Possibly we may be able to throw light upon this point by passing to the third speech of the day, that of Premier Raymond Poincaré, of France, delivered before the general council of the Meuse district at Bar-le-Duc, during the course of which the premier announced that France proposes to begin immediately a system of fortifications along her entire northern border next to Belgium and Luxembourg and thence on her Italian border southward to the Mediterranean. The system will consist of mighty forts and fortifications, supplemented by earthworks, and connected by both highways and railroads. There will be prepared positions for movable batteries, shelters for soldiers, hospitals and airbases. Heed is to be paid to all the military lessons of the World War, and the entire system, which will cost billions of francs to France, is planned to meet the problems it presented.

Here we get an idea regarding the destination of some of the money we have loaned France. It may not be the same money, but it is the money she should use, but doesn't, to replace what she has borrowed.

The internationalists, the pacifists, those who can see nothing but good in Europe and no good at home, the international bankers who are hawking the money of their clients about Europe—all of these are urging us to forgive France, "poor suffering France," the debt she owes us—and herein the application she is making of the means she has—spending billions of francs to fortify her northern and eastern frontiers, as frontiers never were fortified before, to prevent invasion by Germany or Italy.

We do not believe that France fears Italy. She has shown she does not. And so she is expending billions to protect herself from Germany. And Germany is so busily engaged in working to get upon her feet financially and industrially once more that there isn't one chance in a hundred that she could prepare herself for a great war before the proposed system of fortifications has become obsolete.

There is absolutely no reason why Gunga Walska should not enact the main part in the European film production of "The Miracle," for which she is to draw $2,000 a week. Her voice is surely equal to the requirements of the part.

We are told that all the 901 competitions entered in a contest for a selection to supplant our national anthem have been turned down by the judges as inadequate. It may be remarked, in passing, that "The Star Spangled Banner" will not be replaced until somebody able to surpass the punch of its lines and the thrill of its air has been developed, and nobody to meet those specifications has appeared on the horizon, as yet.

The proposal to reduce the $175,000 salary of King Haakon, of Norway, was overwhelmingly defeated in the storting, and that, too, right in the face of the fact that Norway could come across here and get a man to fill the job for half the money.

Ambassador Myron T. Herrick will be invited to accept a seat in the French Academy of Moral and Political Sciences in recognition of his services to the allied cause during the war. It's alike a gracious action and an honor well deserved, and it has this advantage over the honor paid him in the Pantheon de la Guerre: should sentiment toward him change over in France the artist can not rub off his face, a la House.

A news note says that "Music" week is going to be made a feature of every year. If it will improve the quality of some of the radio offerings in that line, we're for it.

A Chicago girl of twenty refused to surrender a bundle containing $7,500 of her employer's money she was taking to a bank and so vigorously battled one of three hold-up men that the police were able to apprehend him. We're not saying she wasn't foolish, but it's worth noting that it has been some time since any of us have read about a young man messenger being foolish the same way.

We recall having read some place at some time about a great big having said to his servant something like this: "You have been faithful in small things, I will make you ruler over many. We hope none of our friends of the intelligentsia will tell me we have the quotation wrong. We know we have, but it doesn't matter. We simply use it as it is by way of introduction to the statement that this country so many times has called upon Herbert Hoover to do so many things with such good result that it's a wonder to us it has never thought of asking him to run the entire works. Can it be that the fact he is a man of wealth is held against him?"

Kidney Troubles After Fifty.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

When you pass fifty you must make sure the kidneys are functioning normally. This is a piece of advice I give very often, but it will bear repeating.

The other day a New York lady wrote, saying she would appreciate an article about nephritis, a disease which she has.

I wish the letter had been more detailed, because, you see, the word "nephritis" means simply inflammation of the kidney. It is applied to all the many forms of kidney disease in which inflammation is a factor.

I am anxious to speak, especially on this subject, because of the popular dread of Bright's disease. This is the more common name given kidney inflammation, but please don't get excited before I have a chance to explain a few things.

High blood pressure and the presence of albumen in the urine are the two symptoms which are popularly believed to prove the existence of nephritis. Let me tell you that this is not always the case.

Many persons have high blood pressure without kidney involvement. There are many instances where albumen in the urine means nothing more than wrong dieting, nervousness, or fever. So you see these are merely symptoms and may not indicate kidney disease at all.

Let us suppose there are actually signs of Bright's disease, or real nephritis, what then? Even though no disease exists, it does not mean that death is near at hand. This may have chronic nephritis and yet be able to enjoy life for years and years. These are phases of cases where albumen and casts in the urine, high blood pressure, and other symptoms of nephritis have persisted for fifteen or twenty years.

The importance of these signs in their relation to the manner of life the nephritic person should lead. Temperance in all things must be the rule. Vigor, worry, excitement, overeating, anything that may bring extra work on the heart, blood vessels and kidneys must be avoided.

These suggestions might well be followed even if your kidneys are perfectly normal. Attention to the bowels and the avoidance of disturbing foods are essential. Warm baths, an abundance of water to drink, and the avoidance of exposure to very hot or very cold weather, will help to maintain the vigor.

Let us now speak of the disease as it exists. There may be more serious symptoms which must be given attention. Dropsy, vomiting, difficult breathing and involvement of the heart require careful treatment.

Everybody should make sure that the teeth, bowels, digestive organs and generative organs are in good condition. Neglect of any of these producing conditions may have its effect upon all the other organs, including the kidneys. You can not afford to be careless as to what you eat and drink, or to be "overgrown." Make your doctor your frequent adviser.—Copyright, 1927.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Dinner Stories.

Lady—"I suppose in this lovely spring weather you feel much more cheerful?"

Breagar—"That's the trouble, lady. I do make it harder for me to look miserable."

Motorm—"That lucky of yours is out of date. If you owned a car you could throw your foot against the accelerator and get a thrill, old son."

Father—"If you want a thrill, young man, climb into this buggy and throw your foot against this horse's tail."

It was during the breach-of-promise suit that a certain lawyer had occasion to ask the plaintiff her age.

"It is absolutely essential that your correct age be entered," he assured her as she hesitated to reply.

At last the answer came faintly, "Well—er—fifty-three." But please write it as lightly as possible."

A man lay in the road surrounded by what was originally an automobile. His face was out and his clothes were torn. The auto was a total wreck.

A passing machine stopped and a man got out, leaning over the prostrate man and asked, "Have an accident?"

Equally the reply reached him. "No, thanks, just had one."

Editorial Comment.

VICARIOUS ATRUISM.

"It is a curious circumstance," remarked the president in his address on foreign relations, "that some of those who have been willing to have us take immediate over land countries in Asia, where we have no interest that does not attach to all humanity, are now critical when we are attempting to encourage the maintenance of order, the continuance of established government, and the protection of lives and property of our own citizens under a general reign of law in those countries that are near at hand and where we have large and peculiar interests."

Mr. Coolidge refers to the peculiar phenomenon we have noted frequently in discussing our foreign relations of vicarious atruism. It includes the assumption that all Americans abroad, save perhaps missionaries, are engaged in some malevolent enterprise, generally labeled "exploitation." It is marked by a holy zeal for the confiscation of any American's property by any foreigner who wants it and can take it under the guise of any formula admired by the American liberal mind. There is a type of morality which seems to acquire merit by proposing the delivery of some one's else possessions or creations to another, and it seems to be accompanied by a profound conviction that American character in practical affairs is totally depraved and that any American's claim of right must be unimpeachable.

We suspect that this state of mind is psychopathic, but it is remarkable how much publicity its peculiar reactions receive. "We are supposed to be a practical and energetic people, and in our home affairs vigorous, efficient, and in fact, more respect than it deserves, but in the field of our foreign interests it plays with more success upon our policy and though fortunately it does not quite dominate it, continues sometimes to modify or retard action which the common sense of the public generally, once directed upon the given situation, would and does approve. We are not disposed to exaggerate in estimating its influence upon our foreign policy and conduct, but in fact, the influence is likely to diminish as the nation's sense of its substantial foreign interests becomes definite with the growth of those interests. But it still is strong enough to affect policy and in some degree unduly the direction of our foreign affairs."—Chicago Tribune.

WARRIORS IN TALKERS.

The split in the Chinese Nationalists has been described as a division between the belshyevists and the moderates. It might also be described as a feud between the warriors and the talkers. As long as the Cantonese held together, Chiang, the moderate, did most of the successful fighting, while Chen, the extremist, did nearly all the talking. In any war of weapons, Chiang was foredoomed to defeat. He has, therefore, decided to carry a war with his own weapons. He has ceased talking and taken to fighting and has met with instant and emphatic success.

If Chiang smashes the Reds as thoroughly as his initial moves promise there will be little for the British to do in the way of inflicting punishment for the Hankow seizures and the so-called Nanking outrages. Chiang places responsibility for all misdeeds wholly on the shoulders of the extremists, and one of the advertised reasons for his present earnest endeavor to exterminate the Reds is a desire to punish them for getting the Reds in a desire to "run him" with the foreign powers.

Already Chiang has won a large victory over the Reds who were till recently a part of his own army. If he keeps on at this rate the British, who have recently announced their intention of proceeding to take revenge for various offenses, will find nobody to wreak vengeance upon. Surely with Chiang Kai-shek denouncing the Hankow crowd and trying to eradicate Chen and all his faction the British can not consider turning their guns on a general who is doing their work for them.

"The American policy has been to let the Chinese work out their own salvation. This they seem to be proceeding to do much more expeditiously than was expected. With the radical fanatics of the south suppressed and silenced Chiang ought to be permitted to proceed against Chen and the reactionary elements of the north without British or other interference. In other words any coercive move made by Great Britain at the present time can be nothing but a false move."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Not a Neophyte at the Game.

There are some hints that Mr. McAdoo is thinking about doing a dog-in-the-manger turn as his act at the new Democratic national convention. He ought to be able to put on a finished performance.—Detroit Free Press.

Vagrant Verse.

IF THOU MUST LOVE ME.
If thou must love me, let it be for naught:
For even the rose gives up her fragrance
To the wind, and the sun gives up his heat,
To the clouds, and the water gives up its life,
To the sea, and the earth gives up its fruit,
To the sky, and the stars give up their light,
To the night, and the day gives up its day,
To the moon, and the sun gives up its ray,
To the earth, and the sea gives up its foam,
To the wind, and the clouds give up their home,

WILL SETTLE LOCAL SUIT IN UNUSUAL WAY

One of Few Proceedings in History of County Heard in Court

A suit to be decided by a jury, one of the few of its kind in the history of the county, was held in Common Pleas Court yesterday afternoon.

The suit is between J. J. McMurphy and others, plaintiffs, and the Marion County Lumber Co. and Z. Stettin, defendants. It concerns the building of a new library, contrary to the plaintiffs' wishes, and the plaintiffs' claim that the building was built in violation of the terms of a contract.

The plaintiffs, who are operating under the name of the Marion County Lumber Co., claim that the building was built in violation of the terms of a contract. They claim that the building was built in violation of the terms of a contract.

was to enter as a pattern for the new house. She alleges that the Lumber Co. dwelling does not measure up to the model.

Half Paid
Only half of the contract price has been paid, the plaintiffs claim, and the suit is for the other half. Miss McMurphy demands that $750 be deducted from the contract price for the alleged deficiencies.

After making a survey of the two properties and hearing further testimony, the arbitrators will render their recommendations to Judge Seabright.

Home L. Johnson is attorney for the plaintiffs and Hamilton & Hamilton, represent the defendants.

The Marion County Lumber Co. and Z. Stettin are named as party defendants both holding accounts which stand as liens against the property involved.

WORK BEGINS ON SENIOR CLASS PLAY AT SCHOOL

Production Will Be Presented at Grand Theatre on June 1

Work on the play, "Little Women," to be presented by the Senior Class of Harding High School June 1, matinee and night, at the Grand Theatre, has begun, according to Miss Louise Foreman, instructor in dramatics, today. Few rehearsals have been held up until this time as the play conflicted with other school activities.

The play is a dramatized version of the book, "Little Women," by Louisa May Alcott, compiled into play form by Marion E. Forster.

The play is an old-fashioned story, set in a Connecticut home during and following the Civil War period. It is divided into four acts, the scenes being the March home in Connecticut and later the Plumfield garden. Strenuous efforts are being made to obtain scenery for an appropriate setting for the latter scene, which will feature the play, Miss Foreman, assisted by Miss Freda Smith, also an instructor at the High School, has selected costumes for the play.

Miss Hattie Hunk plays the leading role as Jo March, the leading girl, sacrificing daughter of the March family, while Joe Hunk will take the leading man's role as "Laurie," the happy-go-lucky neighbor of the Marchs.

THE path to fame is not always a long, straight one. There are many who, having been to the top, have come down again. But, what is the reason for this? Is it the lack of talent? Or is it the lack of luck? Let us look at some of the stars.

One of the most interesting tales of Hollywood is the story of the stars who have come down from the top. There are many who, having been to the top, have come down again. But, what is the reason for this? Is it the lack of talent? Or is it the lack of luck? Let us look

BEAUTIFYING GROUNDS AROUND HARDING HOME

Shrubbery of Varied Types Being Planted To Add to Property's Appearance

A large assortment of shrubbery of varied types is being planted this week on grounds surrounding the Harding home and museum on Mt. Vernon av., adding greatly to the attractiveness of the property.

The shrubbery was a gift from Mrs.
Ralph T. Lewis of this city, sister of the late President Harding. The planting and landscaping is in charge of Carl B.
Harmon of the Harmon Nursery, Prospect, who expects to complete the work today.

The landscaping plan includes a hedge along the front of the property and planting of barberry, cornus, euonymus, lilacs, honeysuckles, viburnums and other plants about the grounds.

Four Recreational Ball Leagues are Ready for Season

Commission Issues Call for Three More Teams to Complete Another Group

Only Five Teams Entered in Former Transportation League; Any Outfits Eligible If They Conform to Rules; Schedule To Be Drawn Up Latter Part of Week; Play Starts Monday

By Eddie Schoenle

Sports Editor, The Star

WITH four leagues of eight teams each organized and ready for play, the recreational ball commission of Marion last night issued a call for three more outfits to complete a fifth league before the schedule for the season was drawn up. With four leagues complete, only five teams remain to take part in the fifth.

According to order, the league are requested to notify J. O. Rudolph, physical instructor at the Y. M. C. A. and secretary of the commission, by noon Thursday. The schedule for the season will then be drawn up and play will start next Monday. The fifth group, formerly the Transportation League, now consists of the five teams which were in the league last year. These are: the Industrial, the Commercial, the Church, the Industrial, and the Commercial. Any outfit eligible to enter the league is eligible to enter the league. It was agreed to change the name of the league to "The Recreation League" until the league is complete and arrangements made for the schedule.

Leagues Formed
Two Church leagues, the Commercial and the Industrial groups are complete. Several changes were made in the various groups to equalize the leagues. Here are the teams entered in the respective leagues:
Church League No. 1: Epworth, Presbyterian No. 1, Forest Lawn, Wesley M. E., and Epworth Societies.
Church League No. 2: Lower Presbyterian, Trinity Baptist, Epworth No. 2, Calvary No. 2, Presbyterian No. 2, First Reformed, Lutheran, and United Brethren.

Industrial League: Packing Co., Fairfield Engineering Co., Sierra Street shop, Huber, O'Connell, Gardner, and the D. C. Co., Free Shop, and C. D. & M.

Commercial: Patton, Kiwanis, Marion K. of P. League, Marion Star, Storm School, Eagle, Lyle Dairy and Kappa Alpha Phi.

New Rule
A provision was made that next year the winners in Church League No. 2 should be transferred to the first division while the team finishing last in the first league should be transferred to the second division. This provision was made in order to even up the two leagues with teams of equal strength.

Grounds to be used this season include the diamond at Fairfield, St. Mike, Goodrich, Lincoln Park, Goodrich, Central, Huber, and at least one, possibly two, at the Storm School.

Teams have been purchased at Warner & Edwards and will be ready for the opening of the season. Mr. Rudolph is in charge of the umpires for the year, and everything is ready for the start.

The recreational baseball team representing Marion Company No. 1, Knights of Pythias and employees of Huber Manufacturing Co. are scheduled for a game to be played at 6:30 tonight on the Huber grounds.

FEDERAL AGENT URGES SPEED IN BORER CLEAN-UP

Foster L. Finkle Says Work Must Proceed as Rapidly as Possible

Clean-up work in connection with the corn borer eradication campaign must proceed in Marion County as rapidly as possible, according to Foster L. Finkle, federal agent in charge of the campaign in Marion and Wayne Counties, stated today.

Mr. Finkle, who has headquarters in Upper Sandusky, called yesterday from Toledo, where he attended a conference of county agents from various states and received instructions from L. H. Worthington, federal agent in charge of the work in five states including Ohio.

Added Significance
Aided clean-up work in Marion County, Mr. Finkle's announcement that a new war against the corn borer is being waged in Ohio, had been held against the hardy corn borer, which has been found in the county since 1910, and which has been a constant menace to the corn crop.

Beautiful Chevrolet
in Chevrolet Living

Never before - So many fine car features at such low prices!

The Most Beautiful Chevrolet embodies the largest number of fine car features ever offered in a low-priced automobile.

Bodies by Fisher, for example... beaded, paneled and finished in attractive colors of genuine Duco... smartened by narrowed front pillars, upholstered in rich and durable fabrics... completely appointed—and enhanced by such marks of distinction as full-crown, one-piece fenders and bullet-type headlamps.

And, in addition, the Most Beautiful Chevrolet provides many mechanical improvements. A new AC oil filter and AC air cleaner add to the performance and dependability of the Chevrolet motor. A full 17-inch steering wheel, coincidental steering and ignition lock, improved transmission, new gasoline gauge, new tire carrier—all these are now standard equipment on the new Chevrolet.

Come to our salesroom and see the car that is breaking every precedent for popularity. Learn for yourself why it has everywhere been acclaimed as the most remarkable automobile value of all time.
